

Hudson County Community College Special Circumstances for Withdrawal

When students register for courses at Hudson County Community College, they enter into an agreement with the institution that acknowledges responsibility for meeting deadlines and financial obligations. The institution is also sensitive to the fact that students may face extenuating circumstances beyond their control. For this reason, the college offers students the ability to petition for a withdrawal after the deadline or a grade change ("F" to "W"), provided they can present appropriate documentation. Only petitions with acceptable documentation will be considered for up to one year after the circumstance.
