HCCC'S MODEL STUDENTS MAKE PHOTO SHOOT A PERFECT SUCCESS

On Tuesday, April 19, the College's Communications Department held a photo shoot for which it recruited students and staff members.

Images from the shoot — taken at 2 Enos Place and the Welcome Center — will be used in Communications' upcoming ad campaign (billboards, bus wraps, online and display advertising), as well as future catalog covers, flyers and other designs.

Many thanks to all of the students who volunteered to participate; those who promoted the event among their classes and campus organizations; and College departments who lent their assistance!

PHI THETA KAPPA HONOR SOCIETY NEWS

Congratulations to Dr. Chanida Katkanant, who received Phi Theta Kappa's Distinguished College Administrator Award at its Annual Convention in Seattle in April.

The Distinguished Administrator Award is awarded to community college vice presidents, deans, or leaders (other than college presidents/CEOs) serving a community college in an administrative capacity.

Dr. Katkanant grew up in Bangkok, Thailand, where she earned both bachelor's and master's degrees in education from Chulalongkorn University. After 10 years of working with the Center for Educational Technology, Ministry of Education, Thailand, helping teachers produce film and audio materials and integrate them into their curricula, she left Bangkok for the United States to pursue an advanced degree and join family members here.

She earned a doctoral degree at University of Nebraska, Lincoln, in Administration, Curriculum and Instruction, then worked as an Institutional Research Director at Western Nebraska Community College for three years and as an Outcomes Assessment Director at Northeast Community College for three years before moving to New Jersey.

She began her work at Hudson County Community College as Institutional Research Director, a position she held for seven years before moving to her current position as Assistant Dean of Academic Affairs.

She enjoys working in a community college and living in an urban environment. Her passion is to assist with course and curriculum development and help students progress and succeed.

Dr. Katkanant believes that the Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society is a wonderful organization to help our students to get involved in the educational and larger communities, develop their leadership roles, and further their educational attainment.

Congratulations to Professor Theodore Lai, who received the Continued Excellence Award for Advisors at the convention as well! The Continued Excellence Award for Advisors is awarded to those who make significant contributions to the growth of the individual members, serve as the chapter's advocate on campus, and encourage the chapter to be involved on the local, regional and/or international level of the organization.

Associate Dean,
Institutional Research
& Planning

The 2010 Census data released, by the U.S. Census Bureau, shows that Hudson County has moved up a notch to become the fourth-largest county in New Jersey. The county grew by 4.2 percent, since the 2000 Census. In 2010, there were 634,266 residents living in the county.

Hudson County is home to 12 municipalities and a number of higher education institutions, including Hudson County Community College, New Jersey City University, Saint Peter's College, and Stevens Institute of Technology. Data for the county shows that the five most populous municipalities are Jersey City (247,597); Union City (66,455); Bayonne (63,024); North Bergen (60,773) and Hoboken (50,005). Hoboken was the fastest-growing municipality for the decade with a 29.6 percent increase. Jersey City grew by 3.1 percent.

The county became more racially diverse since 2000, with the non-white population increasing from 41 percent of the total population to almost 44 percent. With a growth rate of 49%, Asians led all groups in population growth and now constitute the third largest segment of the population. The Hispanic population grew by about 10%.

The Census count affects the allocation of educational funding, development of education policy, provides statistics for demographic research, and informs employers, state, and local planners on the dynamics of the local and regional labor market. The Census data on race and ethnic origin allows the federal government to evaluate programs or enforce laws, such as the Fair Housing Act. See the tables on these pages for a breakdown of the county population data.

NORTH HUDSON HIGHER EDUCATION CENTER UPDATE

By Dr. Paula P. Pando,
Vice President
for North Hudson Center
& Student Affairs

Because we are a community-centered institution, the College's administration believes we should be good neighbors and responsible stewards of our environment. Thus, when plans were being developed for our new North Hudson Higher Education Center, an emphasis was placed on designing a building that would not only be comfortable and aesthetically pleasing, but one that would also be more energy efficient and would provide better ventilation, and temperature and lighting control.

To meet these criteria, the architects incorporated several sustainable elements into the building's design. These include: a photovoltaic rooftop system that will generate electrical power by converting solar rays into direct current electricity; rainwater harvesting tanks; daylight and occupancy sensors as well as low-flow fixtures for lighting; and high-efficiency mechanical equipment, such as interior light shelves that help to reflect natural light deeper into instructional spaces. Going forward, these and other environmental design aspects will all contribute to operational energy and cost savings.

We will continue with our hard-hat tours of the Center. To arrange your tour of the site, please phone my office, (201) 360-4022.

Information sessions about the North Hudson Higher Education Center will be offered every month until it opens. They will be offered both in the day and the evening; all will be held in the Student Affairs Conference Room in the Enrollment Services Center, located on the first floor of 70 Sip Avenue, and presented by our North Hudson Communication Team. Light refreshments will be served.

- ◆ Tuesday, May 10, 12 p.m.
- ◆ Thursday, May 12, 5:30 p.m.

More news on plans for the Grand Opening ceremonies to follow.

Thanks for all of your interest and support!

The first cohort of students in Hudson County Community College's Gateway Certificate Program in Homeland Security have entered the last course in the program, "GIS Technology for Homeland Security." This is the first of a series of Gateway Certificates that will be offered through Continuing Studies, a new branch of the Community Education Division.

Future offerings include Sports Management, Graphic and Digital Design, and Public Service Administration. Both the Writing Center and the Library support staff participated by offering support sessions to those students who needed extra help.

According to Dr. Eric Friedman, Dean of Community Education, "This has been a major step forward for the College and for these ambitious students. All of them have expressed career aspirations in Homeland Security. The professors have been enthusiastic about the academic progress of the entire cohort."

As part of the program, Community Education staff will help the program graduates to develop job search skills appropriate to this growing career field.

DATATEL UPDATE: THE FUTURE IS NOW! MAY 2011

By Carlos Tonche, Jr.
HCCC Project Manager

As the Datatel Implementation Project continues, HCCC awaits the introduction of our new website. The design for the new website is complete and updated content is being developed. Since the HCCC community is already using the MyHudson portal as a resource for information, the new website will be oriented toward an external audience. Look for it to be available by June.

Many eligible students are now taking advantage of online registration. To be eligible, a student needs to have completed (or be currently enrolled in) English Composition I and College-level Math while not having any financial holds. To date, well over 500 students have registered for Summer and Fall 2011 classes via the web. Instructions are available on MyHudson; if you are eligible, please take advantage of this opportunity.

As mentioned in last month's update, plans are underway to make payment plans available online for students. Once this is accomplished, a student who needs to pay for his/her classes can enroll in a payment plan through their MyHudson portal and then make payments online. Students who take advantage of this will not have to go to the Bursar's Office in person and possibly have to stand in line to sign up for a payment plan.

Progress continues as we transition to the new system. Please be patient as all of us adjust to our "new" way of doing business. Once everyone gets more familiar with Colleague, MyHudson, and Liberty Link and our other new tools, you will notice even more improvements.

Stay tuned!

PROFILE OF CHARLES BURWELL, ARTIST IN HCCC PERMANENT ART COLLECTION

As a young man, African-American artist Charles Burwell admired Cy Twombly, Mark Tobey, Jack Tworlov, and Agnes Martin (her work is also in the HCCC collection). Burwell says the “linear, graphic sensibility” he saw in their work influenced the development of his art. He also visited the Museum of Modern Art (MOMA) in New York City. He says, “Seeing the range of American abstract art (particularly Pollock), I became interested in the formal ways in which paintings are constructed.” (Visiting MOMA is free Fridays from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. See the website moma.org for details.)

The work Burwell has been doing since the early 1990s involves a specific layering process which mostly relies on, “the interaction of the controlled dripped line, maze like linear forms, and organic and geometric forms.” He is interested in prehistoric imagery, biology, cave paintings, archaeology, natural history, microscopic forms, geometric forms, asymmetrical and symmetrical forms and anthropomorphic images. He is especially interested in “the connections between biology, technology, and ... the complexities of our information-laden culture.”

Burwell has a BFA and an MFA in Painting. He has received many honors including a Pew Fellowship in the Arts and a Joan Mitchell Foundation Grant. He made this lithograph when he was Artist-in-Residence at Rutgers Center for Innovative Printmaking in New Jersey. His work is in the collections of the Philadelphia Museum of Art, the Cleveland Museum of Art, the Zimmerli Museum of Fine Art at Rutgers University, The Studio Museum in Harlem, and The Library of Congress, among others. For more information, see the Pew YouTube video about him, or go to his art dealer’s website, www.bridgettemayergallery.com.

The picture is in the Dean’s office at the Culinary Arts Institute, Room 218. Come by, look at the work, and pick up a catalogue for the Culinary Program!

LOCAL ARTIST JON RAPPLEYE SPEAKS AT HCCC ON MARCH 24

On Thursday, March 24, the Hudson County Community College Foundation held the first lecture in its Artist Talk Series – a group of dialogues designed to enrich the community’s experience of arts in Hudson County. The evening’s lecturer, Jersey City artist Jon Rappleye (pictured at right), discussed his art — filled with fantastic animal and natural imagery — while displaying images of work from his earliest period to the present day, including an original recently finished work.

sus planes. Luego de graduarse en el 2012, transferirá sus estudios a una escuela en la que pueda cumplir sus aspiraciones de convertirse en farmacéutica.

Ella dice que luego de completar su primer semestre en el campus de North Hudson actual (en West New York), empezó a participar más con los programas y actividades universitarias, y es actualmente la Presidente del Club Key y del Club de Coalición Bilingüe.

"Recomiendo a Hudson County Community College a otros porque la Universidad tiene mucho que ofrecer y es una institución que la gente puede financiar," dijo, explicando que HCCC da la misma calidad de educación a sus estudiantes en comparación con aquellas que se recibe en instituciones o universidades más costosas. El esposo de Julia también es estudiante de HCCC, donde los costos por créditos son unos de los más bajos en New Jersey. Además, más de la mitad de estudiantes reciben asistencia financiera, y hay cientos a quienes se le ha otorgado becas por medio de la Fundación de la Universidad.

El Centro de Educación Superior North Hudson será un campus completo bajo un solo techo, y por ser una Universidad comunitaria, también contará con una variedad de espacios para eventos de la Universidad y de la comunidad. La estructura incluirá, oficinas de Servicios de Enrolamiento, Registrador y Colecturía; áreas especialmente diseñadas para exámenes, tutoría, y consejería, laboratorios de computación y un centro audio visual' laboratorios de ciencia y lenguaje y estudios de arte; biblioteca y librería; cafetería estudiantil así como espacios comunes para seminarios y eventos; y oficinas de facultad y personal. Además, un puente peatonal, con cubierta de vidrio que unirá al centro con la estación de NJ Transit (trenes ligeros).

Se espera que el nuevo Centro de Educación Superior de North Hudson esté completo este verano y dar inicio a clases en el semestre de otoño 2011.

"Estamos felices de salir y familiarizar a la Universidad con la Universidad y con el nuevo Centro de Educación Superior de North Hudson. Será de gran ayuda tener a un graduado y a una estudiante actual de la Universidad ayudándonos a entregar y repartir el mensaje," dijo la Dra. Pando.

clude: Nadia Makar, the extraordinary science teacher from Union City; Mother Jacqueline Mays, Pastor and Overseer of Mt. Sinai Full Baptist Church; Daniel Altilio, President of United Way of Hudson County; business leader Raju Patel; retired Jersey Journal publisher Scott Ring; New Jersey City University President Dr. Carlos Hernandez; Marla Ucelli, Director of District Redesign & Leadership at the Annenberg Institute for School Reform/Brown University; and U.S. Senator Robert Menendez.

Dr. Abegail Douglas-Johnson has been a driving force at Hudson County Community College for more than 26 years. During that time, she has served as Director of Instructional Resources, Assistant Dean of Student Development, Dean of Academic Affairs, Acting President, and most recently, Vice President for Academic Affairs. Under her leadership, the College's for-credit and non-credit programs and courses were greatly increased, a factor that has contributed to the College's remarkable growth.

Dr. Johnson attained her teacher's diploma from St. Joseph's College in Jamaica, West Indies and began her career in an elementary school there. She went on to earn a Bachelor's degree in Education from Mills College of Education (New York, N.Y.) and was Head Teacher of the Early Learning Center, Reading Specialist, and Director of the Institute of Arts at New York City's Emerson School. Dr. Johnson holds Master's degrees in Education and Reading and her Doctorate degree in Reading from Yeshiva University (New York, N.Y.). Prior to coming to Hudson County Community College, Dr. Johnson was an Adjunct Professor at William Paterson and New Jersey City Universities, where she taught both undergraduate and graduate courses. She was also a consultant to the Mount Vernon and New York City Boards of Education.

In addition to her work at the College, Dr. Johnson serves as a member of the Jersey City Medical Center Board of Trustees, Hudson Vicinage Minority Concerns Advisory Committee, New Jersey Community Colleges Academic Officers Association (where she has been Chair, Treasurer and Secretary), and several educational advisory boards and professional organizations. She is also an Evaluator for the Commission on Higher Education — Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools.

Dr. Johnson is married to Rev. Dr. Alfred B. Johnson, who recently retired after 22 years as pastor at Newark's Clinton Avenue Presbyterian Church.

HCCC Board of Trustees Chair William J. Netchert stated: "We are indebted to Dr. Johnson for her dedication and contributions to Hudson County Community College over these past two-and-a-half decades. We are happy that we are able to honor her with this special recognition on this very special day."

Rappleye spoke with working artists, student artists, and members of the general public about his influences—including artists like Pieter Brueghel, Jean-Jacques Rousseau, and James Ensor. He also talked about the relationships between the natural and the modern world and answered questions about his techniques.

Rappleye's work, Evolution 2860 AD, part of the College's Permanent Art Collection, can be viewed on the first floor of 2 Enos Place.

Many thanks to the Foundation for making such a rich and interesting evening possible and to all who assisted in making the event successful.
