HUDSON COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR 2014 COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

On Thursday evening, May 22, 2014, over 925 students will walk across the stage at New Jersey performing Art Center's Prudential Hall as part of Hudson County Community College's 36th Annual Commencement ceremonies. The event will begin at 6:00 that evening.

Hudson County Community College (HCCC) President Dr. Glen Gabert announced that the keynote speaker for the event will be Dr. Rod A. Risley, the Executive Director and Chief Executive Officer of Phi Theta Kappa, the largest honor society in higher education. Phi Theta Kappa has more than 1,280 chapters in the United States, U.S. territories and in eight sovereign nations, and inducts more than 135,000 students each year. Hudson County Community College's Beta Alpha Phi chapter now includes 450 members.

The Hudson County Community Heritage Award recognizes members of the community who have made significant contributions to the college, its students, and families. This year's award will be presented to Hudson County Executive Thomas A. DeGise, who has been one of the College's strongest supporters over the years, and who assisted the College in its expansion efforts. (Mr. DeGise's daughter is also a graduate of Hudson County Community College.)

Additional details about the HCCC 2014 Commencement exercises will be made available in the weeks ahead.

HCCC EOF STUDENT SELECTED FOR DISNEY COLLEGE PROGRAM

Stacey Porres, a HCCC freshman Human Services major, has been selected to participate in the Disney College Program for the summer and fall 2014 semester. The program, which is a paid internship, features three key components: Living, Learning, and Earning. Stacey will work in the Main Entrance Operation department at Walt Disney World Resort in Florida, where she hopes to hone her leadership and service learning skills.

Stacey is a member of the Educational Opportunity Fund Program, and has contributed most of her free time to causes that mean a lot to her like participating in the Yuda Bands program. This service learning program's main objective is to sell wrist bands to raise funds to sponsor one year academic scholarships for children in developing countries. As a result of her successful fundraising efforts, she was able to travel to Guatemala to personally meet the three students who were recipients of the scholarships.

Stacey thoroughly researched Disney before submitting an application. Upon completing a successful phone interview, she was accepted into the internship program. She will share an apartment in Florida with other participants, and looks forward to learning about different cultures from around the world. In addition to working, she will be enrolled in college courses and career development seminars.

TRIALS AND TESTS IN ESL

The ESL/Bilingual Program at HCCC has been implementing CALL (Computer-Assisted Language Learning) for many years, first through the use of language labs, and later through a flipped classroom model. Most ESL Grammar courses have online workbooks which allow students to do discrete item exercises at home and asynchronously thus saving valuable face-to-face classroom time.

In the Grammar classes, the ESL/Bilingual Program uses interactive software from the Pearson Publishing Company through the Focus on Grammar (Fuchs & Bonner) series for the upper levels, and in Levels 0 to 1, we use a series from the Cengage Company. This tool has many features allowing the instructor to customize the lessons for their students while encouraging the students to work independently. Recently, in this spirit, two full-time faculty members (Shannonine M. Caruana and Johanna van Gendt) volunteered to participate (possibly enticed by an Amazon voucher) in the trial of a new program that Pearson is launching.

On different days, the 2 instructors hopped on the PATH and went to the Pearson Headquarters on 330 Hudson Street in Manhattan. Once there, they were asked to do 11 different tasks with the Speak Out series program, and to comment freely on the execution of those tasks with the hope that when the program is launched it will be functional, clear, and free of glitches. These tasks ranged from opening assignments for the students in a specific lesson to giving feedback on a student's writing sample. The Pearson representatives assured them that it was not their performance that was being judged, but rather how the steps in the process worked. In fact, they were encouraged to voice their opinions and any frustrations they had while performing the various tasks.

All in all, the trial took about an hour each session, and the product testers were very satisfied with the instructors' responses. The Pearson team concluded that the two faculty members had given them quite a bit of work in order to get the Speak Out series ready for distribution. Of course, as professionals, they were happy to leave feedback that would strengthen CALL based products and improve the overall performance in their classes.

WORKPLACE WELLNESS: GET PAID TO STAY HEALTHY!

NJWELL is the new wellness program offered for actively employed members of the School Employees Health Benefits Program (SEHBP). NJWELL aims to cultivate healthy lifestyle choices and improve well-being among actively employed members of the SEHBP.

The program is multi-year approach to raising awareness, while improving the health of members and their communities. Eligible members, and their covered spouses or partners, who meet the program's Wellness Goals each year receive financial rewards in the form of a gift card. Along with the gift cards, participating employees will also be contributing to a possible overall reduction in medical insurance premiums depending on the number of employees involved.

This is an ongoing program that will be phased in over several years. In 2014, NJWELL will focus on helping participants understand their current health status. Employees and their covered spouses/partners will each receive a $100 gift card when they earn 250 Wellness Points by participating in both a biometric screening, which identifies potential health risks and a short online Health Assessment questionnaire about their general lifestyle. All Biometric Screening, and Health Assessment information, will be confidentially collected and stored by the participant's health plan. The results are provided only to the participant; by law, they cannot be shared with an employer.

Please visit <http://shbp.horizonblue.com> or <http://www.aetnastatenj.com> for more information about the program.

SUMMER HOURS

Hudson County Community College is authorizing a summer hour schedule beginning Friday, May 23, 2014 and ending on Friday, August 8, 2014. The regular hours of operation during this time will be 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday. The College will not be open for regular business on Fridays during this period. Employees are expected to reduce their lunch breaks to 30 minutes to compensate for the shorter hours of operation during the week. College activities on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays during this period will be minimized to reduce energy, and other operating costs. The College will go back to the regular five-day work week on Monday, August 11.

It is important that offices are open at 8:30 a.m. and stay open until 5:30 p.m. on Monday through Thursday. This means that employees need to be at their workstations.

Robert Hamer,
Instructor,
Hospitality
Management

It is 7 p.m. on a Friday evening. Robert Hamer boards a United Airlines flight bound for London. He has been teaching all week at Hudson County Community College and has papers to grade in one hand and a list of passengers in the other. In the next 6 hours he will oversee the comfort and safety of 220 passengers who are expecting first class hospitality and warm, accommodating service.

At HCCC, Robert teaches specialty classes such as 'Intro to Hospitality' and 'Front Office Operations' in the Hospitality Management (HM) department as a non-tenure track full-time instructor, sharing the principles of hospitality from his field experience with his students. He also continues to work a front desk role once a week at the Holiday Inn in Secaucus. "It's a perfect triangle," he says, "I teach what I do to students who aspire to work in the travel and hospitality industries."

Robert followed in the footsteps of his Aunt Rose who went to school for HM. His first job was bussing tables at the Marlboro Inn in Montclair where he was promoted to server and then front desk. He had an opportunity to live with an Uncle who invited him to come to Kentucky and he studied Hospitality Management at Moorehead State University, eventually earning a master's degree in Adult Education. "Living among the people of Appalachia changed what I thought about the people there: I encourage my students to learn as much about others as they can. The people there were friendly and I participated in the university's efforts to recruit African American students."

In 1995 an opportunity to work at a hotel in Secaucus presented itself and he made the move up north. At first they were hesitant to offer him the position, thinking he was over-qualified, but he convinced them, aspiring to gain experience and to move up through the ranks of management. He had also responded to a job posting for a flight attendant position and had to make a choice between domestic or international travel. He chose to see the world. "I loved it," he says, "the food, the cultures, the languages."

Fortunately, he was home on 9/11. The first time he worked a flight after that tragedy, he was truly scared. It was a flight from New York's LaGuardia to Chicago and the passengers were eerily quiet. "It was somber; no one moved the whole time."

In 2011 he started community college teaching at HCCC and has taught at Middlesex Community College as well. He refers to "that aha moment" when students learn something new about an unfamiliar culture, when the spark to know more becomes visible.

Mr. Hamer actively encourages students to pursue as many learning opportunities as they can. Recently, he suggested the Disney Summer College to his class and 2 students enrolled in the program to further prepare them for careers in park management and hotels. "I tell students to take the leap of faith, to do what they want to do and they'll be surprised how far they'll go."

Robert offers: "I learned many of my values of social responsibility and giving back from my fraternity, Alpha Kappa Psi. We conduct blood drives, clothing drives, and scholarship fund raising. We have chapters all across the country and the world." He carries what he learned from his fraternity into an ethic of service, currently participating on the Student Affairs Committee and recently helping to launch a new Hospitality Management Club which held its first meeting in April.

Sabrina Magliulo
Director, EOF

Since 2012, Sabrina Magliulo has been the Director of HCCC's Educational Opportunity Fund (EOF), the program created through the legislature in 1968 after the Newark riots to ensure meaningful access to higher education for those who come from backgrounds of economic and educational disadvantage. In recent years, the focus on access has been expanded to include an equal focus on persistence, graduation, and meaningful introductions to career opportunities. She has also served on the State level as part of the leadership of the EOF Statewide Alumni Association, a group committed to building a meaningful network of EOF alumni who help to create leadership, advocacy, and engagement opportunities. Having been an EOF student herself, at The College of New Jersey, Sabrina believes deeply in the mission of EOF and works with over 200 students at HCCC to ensure they have the support and the resources they need to be successful in their studies. "EOF becomes the family for you at college; we help students with financial aid issues, scholarship opportunities, and a myriad of concerns they have along the way," she says.

With a background and education in counseling and psychological services, and a Master's in Education from the University of Pennsylvania in Psychological Services, Sabrina feels she is the perfect fit for the role at HCCC: "I was a substance abuse counselor in Philadelphia, I worked at a middle school in Camden with school-based youth services, and I worked at a high school on counseling and pregnancy prevention programs. My training in family therapy has a systems background and I use that model in all of my work." The systems approach looks beyond the individual, focusing on bringing families, schools, and the community together to build support networks to help students succeed. "Look at the bigger system and think about creating lasting changes," she says with a smile.

As a college student, she had been unsure of the path to follow and which major to choose. She did know that she wanted to help others and possibly be a doctor or even a guidance counselor. A great psychology course with a wonderful teacher helped her make the decision and she had the support of her mother who always told her that 'you might hit barriers but just keep moving forward.' She had her 'Aha' moment in that course and told herself, 'this is it!'

Sabrina finds it extremely rewarding to have come full circle: originally an EOF student, now able to direct an EOF program in her own county, she also teaches a course in the Master's in Counseling program at NJCU where some of our students transfer. "It's all about support in EOF. We've helped thousands of students at HCCC and we continually look for ways to be creative and help the students."

AUTISM AWARENESS

To celebrate the Autism Awareness Month in April the Learning Community Students, on their own initiatives, completed this LC bulletin board on Autism. The students read about Autism in their psychology class, researched online, and worked together in creating the bulletin board showcasing their findings. The bulletin board is located in Building G, 1st Floor.

Foundation Art Collection

The Hudson County Community College Foundation Art Collection, which includes artworks in media from painting and sculpture, photographs, American craft pottery, and ephemera, reveals aspects of America's and New Jersey's rich artistic and cultural history from the Hudson River School period to today. In recent years, the College's acquisition efforts have focused on strengthening its American and New Jersey modern, and contemporary collections.

Each month, this page in HCCC Happenings provides updates on artists whose work is in the collection, and new additions to the collection.

Donor Acknowledgements

The works pictured above were recently donated to the college by Benjamin J. Dineen, III and Dennis C. Hull. Ibrahim Ahmed, Body #3 (2012), oil on Masonite [above right]. Ahmed spoke to students at this year's Spring Foundation Artist Talk. He is currently on a Fellowship in Central and South America. Donald Baechler, "The Long and The Short (2004)" 21 color silkscreen with collage [above left].

Baechler, a comfort to those of us trying to understand why we have so much difficulty letting go of things, says, "I hold onto absolutely everything ... I would guess out of every thousand images I save, I probably use one or two. I've never actually counted ... But most of the things I photograph never find their way into a painting; and most of the things I save and catalog and photocopy never really find their way into a work. It's necessary to accumulate all of these things to get to the point of what's important."

Artist News

If you like the William Wegman work in the Welcome Center at North Hudson, you might enjoy his lecture at the Guggenheim Museum on 5th Avenue and 89th Street in NYC on Tuesday, May 13, 6:30 p.m. Tickets are $18. For more information, call the box office at 212-423-3587.

Donald Baechler, The Long and The Short (2004) 21 color silkscreen with collage.

Closer to home, we will be installing two more works by this artist in the coming year here at HCCC.

The solo exhibit "Eleanor Antin: Passengers," will be on display through May 31 at Diane Rosenstein Gallery in Los Angeles. The show takes as its starting point, ideas found in an ancient Egyptian tomb: "Passengers/where are you going?/from here to there/do you ever get there?/I don't know/why not?/i'm only a passenger -- just like you". Closer to home, Antin's work can be seen on the 2nd floor of 168 Sip Avenue.

David Beck, whose work Dodo MMVII can be seen in the North Hudson library, has made a video of his newest work, a tiny mobile sculpture called, Dragonflycanique (2014). Check it out at <http://vimeo.com/92058631>.

John Cage is best known as a composer, specifically of the work "4'33", which was written in 1952. It involves musicians sitting and not playing their instruments for four minutes and thirty-three seconds. He was also a fine artist. The Collection has recently acquired a work on paper by Cage called, Diary: How to Improve the World (You Will Only Make Matters Worse) continued 1968, which we plan to exhibit in the new library building on Sip Avenue when it opens later this year. If you're interested in Cage's works on paper, check out the exhibit, By leaves or play of sunlight, John Cage: Artist and Naturalist, at the Horticultural Society of New York on 148 West 37th Street, 13th Floor, in New York City through May 16, 2014. This exhibit explores the artists plant-inspired artwork about fungi. At the center of this exhibition is Mushroom Book (1972), a lithograph portfolio created with mycologist Alexander H. Smith and artist Lois Long, whose botanical illustrations contrast with Cage's prints of overlapping handwritten texts. The show also includes prints that incorporate Thoreau's drawings and selections from Edible Drawings (1990), handmade papers composed out of ingredients from the artist's macrobiotic diet.

If you like the work of Sol LeWitt on the 5th floor of the Culinary Arts Conference Center or in the North Hudson library, you might enjoy the new documentary about him at the Film Forum from May 7 -13 at 209 West Houston Street in New York City.

On Thursday April 3, STEM Division hosted a talk by the renowned calculus textbook author Dr. Ron Larson. This event was thought of, and planned, by our own college level mathematics coordinator, Professor Ahmed Rakki, organized by Cengage Learning, and ran by Dr. John Nutakor.

Dr. Larson has published numerous calculus, pre-calculus, algebra, texts, and software since 1979. Many colleges and universities use his textbooks.

Dr. Nutakor, read a brief bio and infused calculus concepts, and famous mathematicians' names. More than 50 students attended the talk. Dr. Larson's topic was "Fun with Functions". He introduced a few algebraic, trigonometric, and transcendental functions, and their graphs, and then moved on to a very exciting and captivating talk about their application, particularly in graphing. Dr. Larson had brought a number of books and gave to students who replied correctly. Many thanks go to Prof. Rakki for organizing this event. Having such a famous math author on our campus was just great.

Graduating Students: Tell Us Your Story!

Hudson County Community College's Communications Department needs your help in identifying unique and exceptional graduate student stories to use in publicity for the upcoming Commencement ceremony as well as future marketing materials.

HCCC's Communications Department will be pitching these stories to media during the Commencement season and would be pleased to hear from students willing to be interviewed. Some past noteworthy stories covered by media included students who:

- Were age 50 or older while studying at HCCC
- Had served in the military
- Had relatives on HCCC staff or of HCCC alumni
- Were family members graduating together
- "Beat the odds" (earned a degree despite an adversity, disability, etc.)

In addition, we would be interested in highlighting inaugural classes of HCCC's newest degree programs!

For more information please contact the Communication Department at 201.360.4060 or email at Communications@hccc.edu.

HCCC ASSISTS WITH HYATT’S APPRECIATION

By Ara Karakashian, Instructor/Coordinator

Students and faculty from the Culinary Arts Institute (CAI) of Hudson County Community College were once again entrusted with providing a recognition dinner for employees of the Hyatt Regency Hotel on the Hudson, in Jersey City. On Wednesday, March 26, 2014, Chefs Frank Pascale & Anthony Capo, along with over a dozen Culinary Arts students, utilized the facilities of the Hyatt to prepare an appreciation dinner for those who often do not have the opportunity to enjoy a recognition meal, as they are often the ones who have to prepare it. Students who assisted with this annual event were: Jeremiah De Jesus, Arnaldo Fajardo, Beatriz Jimenez, Corry Klu, Parker Luland, Arelys Peguero, Noel Rabano, Enzo Ramirez, Rut Rojas, Jessica Sanchez, Bernice Santiago, Rick Sellaro, and Pierr Simeon.

Since 2012, representatives from the CAI have assisted the Hyatt annually with their Employee Appreciation Day. The voluntary efforts of many have helped to establish an annual contribution from the Hyatt Corporation to the Foundation at HCCC. This year’s generous $3,000 contribution to our institution is no exception.

The Executive Chef of the Hyatt Regency, Catherine Kearney, has been a long-standing member of the Advisory Board of the Culinary Arts Institute at HCCC. Chef Kearney’s assistance with industry consulting, coupled with the CAI’s contribution of time and effort at the annual event for the Hyatt Regency, are strong forms of collaboration that have strengthened the relationship of HCCC with its partners in the hospitality industry.

The Culinary Arts Institute is looking forward to assisting and collaborating with the Hyatt Regency Hotel, and other hospitality properties in the near future.

Hyatt of Jersey City donated $3,000 to the HCCC Foundation. This generous donation has occurred annually since 2012, and has helped fund the Culinary Arts Scholarships.
