Damiano Tulipani

Bringing over 15 years of seasoned expertise in information and cyber security, Mr. Tulipani has consistently excelled in leadership roles, progressing through positions of increasing responsibility. Previously serving as the Vice President and Head of Cybersecurity at Investors Bank, he led the charge in fortifying the bank's cyber defense infrastructure. His initiatives encompassed the entire spectrum of cybersecurity management, encompassing protection, response, and recovery strategies. Mr. Tulipani's tenure was marked by the development of cybersecurity programs that seamlessly integrated security measures into core business processes, aligning information security and governance with overarching company objectives.

Before his tenure at Investors Bank, Mr. Tulipani played a pivotal role in platform security at Brown Brothers & Harriman, where he demonstrated a keen understanding of safeguarding security across endpoint systems and data. With his track record of success and strategic acumen, Mr. Tulipani's legacies have fortified cyber defenses and strategic alignment within the organizations he has served.
